The collection for Sunday, January 20, 2019 was $7,444.00 from 166 donors. We thank you for your continued generosity to our parish.

“... if My people, who are called by My Name, are sorry for what they have done, if they pray and obey me and stop their evil ways, I will heal their land.”
2nd Chronicles 7: 14

Stewardship Quotes:

1. The only investment I ever made which has paid consistently increasing dividends is the money I have given to the Lord. (James L. Kraft)
2. Generosity is to materialism what kryptonite is to Superman. (Lloyd Shadrach)
3. Gratitude makes everyday sacred. Expressing our gratitude is a gift to the giver. Gratitude for small things makes every day a gift. (Sue Bender)
4. In this covenant (Genesis 9: 9 –11 —after the flood), God made a commitment not to destroy the earth. Because of our love for God and our desire to be the image of God, a reciprocal covenant from us is an important act. Lovingly caring and nurturing health within all of God's creation is an outstanding acct of stewardship. (Luke Gasho)
5. Think of giving not as a duty but as a privilege. (John D. Rockefeller)
6. Generosity during life is a very different thing from generosity in the hour of death; one proceeds from genuine liberality and benevolence, the other from pride or fear. (Horace Mann)

The Catholic Faith In Slow Motion (No.123)

Fr. Phillip Johnson

Thinking, praying, professing and living the Faith of the Church

Spiritual fruitfulness is a favorite metaphor in Holy Scripture for those dispositions, graces, and perfections that are formed in our lives through the indwelling of the Holy Spirit in us. The image of fruitfulness helps us to understand that we do not achieve these dispositions. Rather, they sprout up in us as signs of the Spirit's sanctifying presence. But, of course, we are not robots moving about under the bursts of some sort of spiritual electricity. The Spirit of God always engages our freedom, by which we claim as our own God's work in us.

Staring with St. Paul's discussion of the "fruit of the spirit" in Galatians 5:22-23, we reflected last week on love, peace, joy, patience, kindness and goodness. We can now complete the list.

+ Faithfulness: In secular Greek, the word had wide usage. Faithfulness, or fidelity, described a person who was utterly reliable and trustworthy. In St. Paul's usage it retains this meaning, but it takes on a more specifically Christian meaning. Faithfulness speaks particularly of the faithful endurance under persecution.

+ Generosity: There is no more characteristic mark of a truly Christian life than generosity. Why? Because in Jesus Christ the endless generosity of God is revealed, and the Divine Generosity is our salvation. Think about the central place of the word "grace" in our Catholic vocabulary; and "grace" means simply "gift". In our Christian vision, the whole of existence is a gift of that eternal generosity. Christ himself is the gift to us from our heavenly Father. "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son..." (Jn. 3:16). If the Spirit of such a God dwells in us, how could the habit of a self-sacrificing generosity not grow in us as the fruit of the Spirit?

+ Gentleness: The Greek word paistes (sometimes translated as meekness) is very difficult to render in English by a single word or concept. It can describe one who is submissive to the will of God. It also means teachable. Very often it means being considerate of the feelings and needs of others. Aristotle used the word to describe the person who is angry when he should be angry and never angry when he should not be.

+ Self-control: In the New Testament, this word (ekgrateia) describes the athlete's discipline of the body, the self-control of Christians in relation to the love of earthly pleasures, and especially in relation to sexual desire.

+ Chastity: It is a particularly urgent kind of self control, because it protects sexual love, saving love from its counterfeit, lust. There is a form of chastity appropriate to the religious celibate life: life-long renouncing of sexual relations. Another form is right for the single life: protecting one's body and spirit for the sexual love which one hopes to enjoy in a future marriage. And then there is the chaste love that belongs to the sacrament of marriage—a love that is open to new life, and that respects the dignity of one another, bodily, spiritually, and emotionally.

+ Modesty: Immodesty serves lust where love ought to be; modesty banishes lust to learn the way of love.

It does happen that we as believers often feel lonely and left out. It even happened to JESUS. He spoke with authority and many were touched by his words. At the same time, He was seen as just a common, ordinary man. “Who does he think he is to say such things to us or about us?” In Nazareth they even wanted to push him over the hedge of the rocky hill. In the first reading today, Moses is saying to his people that God raises prophets from among themselves, putting his words in his mouth. It is not easy to spot true prophets among us, especially if what they say upsets our comfort zone. Then our question may be: “Is he or she a true prophet through whom God’s message is coming to me or why is my comfort zone being upset?”. It is even more difficult when God calls us to be prophetic in our words and deeds, and we are allotted a role as parents and teachers. Indeed, we have a prophetic role in the lives of the children, in our families. We can’t say to God, “Not ME”, can we? Sr. Clare Sabini

THIRD SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME, JANUARY 27, 2019

Small Christian Community Faith Sharing

Please note that we put the following week's Gospel passage in this space so you can prepare all week for Proclamation of the Gospel the following Sunday. Faith Sharing helps ordinary people connect their faith with everyday life experiences.

Excerpt from the Gospel for the Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time, February 3, 2019 – Luke 4:21-30

(Jesus was speaking in the synagogue in Nazareth. Those who heard him were amazed. However, they found it hard to accept Jesus' words because they knew him as the son of a carpenter. What could he possibly know?) "Jesus said to them, 'Amen, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own native place. Indeed, I tell you, there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah when the sky was closed for three and a half years and a severe famine spread over the entire land. It was to none of these that Elijah was sent, but only to a widow in Zarephath in the land of Sidon...' When the people heard this, they rose up, drove Jesus out of the town, and led him to the brow of the hill...to hurl him down headlong. But Jesus passed through the midst of them and went away."

Commentary:

The people of Nazareth are like most of us - not interested in being challenged or changed. Jesus reminds them that prophets are traditionally accepted by outsiders, not insiders. So, the people of Nazareth decided to throw Jesus down to his death. They did not succeed that day, but they would succeed eventually. You and I are perhaps more civilized, less violent than the Nazarenes. We would never murder a prophet in cold blood. But we may be just as likely to shrug off the challenge to change our thinking. How could we possibly be wrong?

Questions for Reflection and Sharing:

1. What is God saying to me in this Gospel passage?
2. What word or phrase in this Gospel speaks to me?
3. What word or phrase in the Commentary with me?

Pro-Life Corner: "If a woman plans to terminate her pregnancy, she commonly refers to the life within her as the 'fetus.' But if she intends to deliver and love and care for the little child, she affectionately calls him/her 'my baby.'" Dr. James C.
